The Christ bearing dove Columbus
Brought the cross unto this shore,
Hallowed us for love and duty
Evermore and evermore.

Refrain: We are coming, oh Columbus,
For we hold this country dear,
Glad to work and strive as you did,
Oh Columbus, we are here.

Heaven granted through Vespucci
The baptismal holy flame
When he brought this wondrous country
A prophetic, lordly name.

Refrain: We are coming, oh Vespucci,
For we hold this country dear,
Glad to work and strive as you did,
Oh Vespucci, we are here.

At the call of God, Cabotto
Forged the path across the sea
For the troubled Pilgrim Fathers
To be great and to be free.

Refrain: We are coming, oh Cabotto,
For we hold this country dear,
Glad to work and strive as you did,
Oh Cabotto, we are here.

Westward, forward, Verrazzano
Landed with his daring band,
Where New York now proudly rises,
Greatest city in the land.

Refrain: We are coming, Verrazzano,
For we hold this country dear,
Glad to work and strive as you did,
Verrazzano, we are here.

Let us follow in your footsteps,
Let us seek your blessed fate,
Our great Italian Fathers,
You who made two countries great.

Glad to work and strive as you did,

Il nuovo indirizzo dato al SELECTED DIRECTORY OF THE ITALIANS IN CHICAGO viene chiaramente indicato dal comunicato che segue, fatto ai giornali italiani di Chicago nel Dicembre passato dal Console Generale Italiano di Chicago, Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio.

L'ITALIA CHICAGO, GIOVEDÌ 26 DICEMBRE 1929 COMUNICATO DEL REGIO CONSOLATO LA GUIDA DEGLI ITALIANI

Il Regio Console Generale ci comunica:

“La guida degli italiani o Selected Directory of the Italians, in Chicago, fin'adesso redatta dalla nota Contessa Lisi Cipriani, verrà per il 1930 pubblicata sotto gli auspici del Regio Consolato Generale Italiano, al fine di dare a questa pubblicazione l'importanza e il volume che si richiede nel vero interesse della comunità italiana di Chicago.

Il market guide e il bulletin of information della guida, assumerà maggior volume, allo scopo di rendere più facile il contatto fra gli italiani e più intensi i loro reciproci affari. La guida sarà poi distribuita a cura di questo Regio Consolato nelle città vicine, fra le varie Camere di Commercio, società di esportazioni, banche, società di navigazione, ecc. Si darà anche particolare attenzione a segnalare le varie società e associazioni con indirizzo e scopo; ciò per intensificare i rapporti sociali fra gli italiani e farli meglio conoscere fra di loro.

f.to Castruccio.

Quello che più necessita per la colonia italiana di Chicago è una co-operazione effettiva tra tutti i suoi migliori elementi per il bene comune, mitigando ogni sentimento di gelosia e tenendo fermo che il bene dell'individuo e del piccolo gruppo è la base del bene di tutta la colonia, e che il bene di tutta la colonia risulta nel bene per gli Stati Uniti e per la nostra Italia, che ha bisogno di tutto il prestigio che le possono dare i suoi figli lontani. La più vasta circolazione data alla guida negli Stati di giurisdizione del Regio Consolato Italiano contribuirà a far conoscere gli Italiani agli Italiani, facilitando la fusione di interessi che tanto necessità.

A nome degli Italiani ringrazio il Regio Console Generale per l'appoggio che da alla guida.

The Italian Contribution

Introduction to the Selected Directory of the Italians in Chicago in 1926-27.

Four year ago I was asked to serve as officer in an Italian organization whose aim it was to help the Italians in Chicago attain the highest type of citizenship, becoming a blessing to the country they had come to and a source of pride to the fatherland they had left. I was entrusted with the educational and civic work, and, in order to prepare myself efficiently for this task, I sought all available information concerning my countrymen in this city. But the information I received from institutions of learning, public offices, settlements and social agencies was meager and flagrantly inaccurate. The Council of Social Agencies of Chicago furnished me with a pamphlet issued by the Chicago Community Trust for the express purpose of guiding workers in Americanization in their work. Since our aim was to prepare our fellow countrymen to give this country their best as this country most needed, our work would, by most people, be classed as advanced Americanization work.

I need make no comment when I quote the paragraph on the Italians in full:—

THE ITALIANS

The Italian is not an organizer. He is an individualist. In the midst of organization, your typical Italian in America buys a push cart and goes into business for himself. He saves his money carefully, buys a tenement house and lives in the poorest one himself. If constrained to work for wages he prefers outdoor labor, which he follows in the summer time, laying off in the winter. The Italian is not found in large numbers in industry. He is not likely to become a man of great wealth. He is of poetic temperament, artistic, musical. There is much of value which he can contribute to our wasteful, luxury-loving, materialistic American life.

The oldest settlement of Italians in Chicago is in the vicinity of Grand Avenue west of the river. The Italians in that section represent perhaps the best element of our Italian immigration. There is a large settlement in the 22nd ward —east of the river. The southern half of this settlement, north of Division street, is populated largely by Sicilians. Most of the Italians of Chicago live in a settlement beginning at the southern edge of the Loop, in the first ward and extending westward across the river, and worth of twelfth street in the 19th ward.

My answer to this statement, which the Council for Social Agencies is still distributing is this directory. I list over three thousand names and over one hundred and fifty professions.

What more eloquent condemnation of the statement?

It was not merely a question of listing a vast number of firms, of stores and professional men. I wanted to study my people and their conditions thoroughly. Having worked several years for the Italian emigrant in New York, after 1907, when conditions there were tragic, I began my task prepared to find much that was heartrendering and discouraging, prepared to try and teach these people much, prepared to make a strong appeal for greater interest in their problems.

My investigation has been long and thorough. I have completed my task and now stand before the Italians in Chicago, deeply moved, thrilled with admiration at the gigantic task they have silently and stoically accomplished.

HERE IS TO YOU, ITALIAN EMIGRANT, MY BROTHER,
YOU HAVE MADE GOOD.

This directory follows the guide published by Mr. Parisi several years ago, which listed only a few hundred names, and the Business Directory of the Italian in Chicago, published June 1926, for the Eucharistic Congress, under the auspices of the Italian Consulate, which listed under sixty business addresses, and was compiled by Mr. Costa of the Consulate. It is to be hoped that the publication of this little volume will be an incentive to other publications that will help to make the Italians better known and bring them, consequently, in closer touch with the American world around them.

This directory is therefore to serve as documentary evidence for my statement concerning the tremendous achievement of the Italians in Chicago. The census of 1920 put the Italian population in Chicago at one hundred and fifty thousand. This would give us, at a rough estimate, about thirty thousand male Italian adults—though the large size of the Italian families makes this a conservative estimate. The directory, in its first edition, is necessarily incomplete, though many names have been added to those listed in the telephone business directory. Many Italian industries and stores have American names and securing a complete list was beyond the power of one isolate worker. Hundreds of names will surely be added to the next edition. Italian firms generally are composed of several members of the same family or of several partners whose names do not always appear. Finally it has not yet been possible to list the great number of Italians who hold important positions in industries, offices and banks. Hence it is not about one Italian in ten, but far more, who from the class of unskilled labor has risen to the class above the skilled workmen, being, actually men of property. The greater number of Italians in Chicago have come since 1904, and such a progress in twenty years seems almost incredible. But all doubts can be set at rest with the assurance that the Selected Directory of the Italians in Chicago is an absolutely bonafide compilation.

Mere statistics, however, give a meager idea of this epic of immigration. The great mass of the Italian emigrants came from the rural districts and belonged to the peasant class. Their opportunities for education had been limited to the scant advantages of rural schools. For Southern Italians there was the increased difficulty of receiving instructions in the Tuscan idiom, commonly called Italian, while they habitually spoke some other Italic dialect which was less close to Tuscan than English or French, both languages in which Italic roots vastly predominate. They came, our emigrants, with a deficient education, a total inexperience of city life, with no money, ignorant of the English language, and were often hostilely met. Yet this is not all. The twenty years of their rise numbers many years of expectationally hard times. The financial crisis of 1907 and the following years was followed by the world war, when many of the best workers were called to arms, and their business suffered in every way. Then came the post-war period of business depression. We can therefore state that they have surmounted inordinate difficulties in a marvelous way.

The rapidly increasing number of professional men, of other who hold responsible positions in American firms, show that the second generation is availing itself more and more of the educational advantages a city offers, and as affluence increases, culture and learning will increase in proportion.

But the Italian rural population should be better understood. Intelligence, refinement, gentleness, loyalty and morals are assets distinct from a school education. When great writers like D'Annunzio and De Amicis, wanted to perfect themselves in the Tuscan idiom, they went to live among the Tuscan peasants. In the rural district of Southern Italy the classical epics still are read aloud and understandingly enjoyed. Hence the gentleness, poignant in its sweetness, of the Italian Southerners who trust you, their chivalry and their generosity which seldom fails you. This applies particularly to the Sicilians, who own many of the most important firms.

This Business Directory hopes to be not only an aid to business men, but also an eyeopener to workers in Americanization, and I therefore add a few words that would not habitually be found in a Business Directory.

The problems which the Italians now have to face are problems that concern all Chicago citizens. The question of prohibition, the emancipation of the younger generation from parental discipline, deficiencies in the public school system (the lack of interest in evening centers particularly, but also unequal advantages for the day schools), and all the grave civic and political problems which this gigantic city has to face! Most of these problems are due to the rapid growth of the city, the congestion following that and the unavoidable lack of men prepared to hold the great number of public offices that have to be filled. Many difficulties are already being solved normally, particularly as improved transportation and the means to buy a home draw an ever increasing number of the Italians to the suburbs, where civic and educational problems are less complicated. As civic problems in Chicago are being studied and solved, the needs of the Italians are being met.

As for adapting themselves to American ideals, no people are better prepared to do so. The English language has over two thirds of Italian words—the thought words are mostly Italian. I say Italian, for the Romance dialect did not grow from Latin, the aristocratic dialect of the Latium, but from the dialects of all Italian provinces spoken by the Roman legions. A miracle of providence has produced vigorous new Romance languages from a series of grammatical errors and mispronunciations, but it is a blessing for anyone who learns the new form to go instinctively or consciously back to the pure source.

Can these people easily assimilate American ideals?

If these ideals are the ideals of previous American generations, rigid in their morality, stern in their sense of justice, fervid in their love of their family and their race, they certainly can. And this is particularly true of the Sicilians, industrious, reticent and determined, uncompromising on questions which involve family morality. — But if the ideals presented them are those of a radical school, flourishing in certain settlements, where the advanced views of some of the residents are known through the United States, then the Italians will not be easily transformed. The mass of the Italians in Chicago, is, I think, conservative, though we also have among them some socialists. But the men who have toiled for their possessions are not ready for the abolition of property, Italian traditions, upholding the cult of the child, make, I think, most Italians recalcitrant to the doctrines of birth-control, sexual experience for women before marriage, abolition of property and similar radical theories sometimes held by the modern social workers.

If the Pilgrim Fathers reincarnated unchanged, they would undoubtedly feel more at home with our Sicilian emigrants than with certain of their own direct descendants whose whole life has been a wild reaction against puritanism.

In an address delivered by President Coolidge at Amherst, June 18, 1920, he says of the boys returned from the world war:

THEY ARE FIGHTING FOR THEIR IDEALS AND THOSE IDEALS WERE THOSE OF THE CLASSICS.

THE CLASSIC OF ALL CLASSICS IS THE BIBLE.

The classics that reach the American are Italic, and given to the English speaking races by the Italians, as well as the Bible whose ethics are the foundation of all Western Civilization. Science also furnishes a field of international understanding. It should be an easy and beautiful task to find that meeting ground of ideals were the descendents of the older settlers could find guidance in their relations to the newer settlers and where the latter could be made to feel that they can become good American citizens and still retain the high ideals of their own race.

A good Italian will make an excellent American.

I thank the Italian Section of the Chicago Council for Civic Education, Executive Committee and Advisory Board, for the interest they have shown in my work, but though chairman of the Italian Section of the Council, I hereby declare that I am solely and entirely responsible for the publications that bear my name.

THE ITALIAN CONTRIBUTION

Introduction to the Selected Directory of the Italians in Chicago, 1927-1928

It was my blessed privilege to show by means of the first edition of the Selected Directory of the Italians in Chicago, that the Italians are proportionally found in great numbers in industry, that they fill an important place in the community and give promise of magnificent contributions towards the general welfare.

Last year the Selected Directory listed about 3000 addresses and about 150 headings, while this year we list about 4000 address and about 170 headings. A most laudable progress, since the prevailing business depression would have made a stationary census anything but discreditable.

Some comparison will be suggestive and furnish information of value, encouraging a more detailed study of those lines of business that are expanding and those that are being abandoned, and the causes of change.

To the figures taken from the 1st and 2nd editions of the Selected Directory I add figures taken from the Italian Directory, edited by the Italian Chamber of Commerce of Chicago, issued in October 1927 and listing about 2000 business addresses under 131 heading. The Italian Directory is an official publication subsidized by the Royal Italian Consulate. It is published in almanac style, containing 83 pages devoted to miscellaneous information, (ranging from a list of the forest preserves to comparative tables of weights and measures), 54 pages of advertisement and 50 pages of the Italian Directory itself.

The process of elimination followed by the I. D. C. of C. is not explained, though internal evidence seems to show that the Italian Directory of 1920 is an abridged edition of the Selected Directory of 1926. The worst instance of inefficient compilation is furnished by the list of retail grocers of which 47 should have been dropped, as no longer in business, leaving the ratio of the Selected Directory of 1927 to to the Italian Directory of 1927 as 500 to 352. No comments are necessary.

Can the Italians rival or outdo the Germanic contribution to American civilization?

My answer is: "What has been done in the past not only can be done, but MUST be done in the future, and to contribute magnificently should be the duty and the God-given privilege of the Italians."

Anglo-American civilization has an Italic basis, not only in religion, literature, art and science but in every direction and in such a way that the Italian influence is ineradicable.

Long before the Renaissance the Italian influence was felt in England. As early as the 11th century Otto Dei Gherardini began his work of civilization in England, and long before the Cabots were called to make the British skillful seafarers, the Venetian and Genoese were the carriers of English merchandise and, (as Mr. Einstein points out in the Italian Renaissance in England, of which I make liberal use) there can be little doubt that the Italian example combined with the natural seafaring inclination of the race, led England to ply the trade which was so successful in enriching Italians.

The Middle Ages had looked upon learning primarily as an aid to theology. The Italians of the Renaissance regarded culture as a guide to the conduct of life, the means of excelling in every branch of human activity.

In commerce, in art, in science, Italy held up the guiding light for England to follow, and England entered thus upon that blessed path of greatness, which brought Shakespeare in the Renaissance and expanding trade to the present day. And what England made hers, America inherited and lives on today.

While the rest of Europe still knew only feudalism, the Sicilian Barons obtained their Magna Charta (before the British), the Italic Classic exalted freedom and the Italians who came to England taught the proud independence of the Republican citizen as it is taught in America today.

It was Duke Humphrey of Gloucester who, in the early part of the 15th century, really italianized England. He called Italian scholars to rehabilitate the University of Oxford that, at the time, had sunk to its lowest level, and everywhere Italians were called to teach and work.

Intellectual and aristocratic England was completely italianized and little by little the race as a whole was affected.

The legal system was reformed. The College of Physicians was founded. The code of the English gentleman, in the first manual of conduct, was based on the teachings of the Cortigiano by Castiglione and the Galateo by Della Casa, and while until then skill at arms alone had been required of the gentleman, the ideal of physical, but also moral, intellectual and spiritual elevation was upheld, an ideal which gave the highest type of the English gentleman in later days.

All points cannot be given. Fencing, horsemanship, the modern art of war, the art of navigation and the art of cultural travel, all branches of philosophy and science were invariably first known to England through Italian manuals translated into English. Can such an influence be measured? I think not.

A realization of these facts should make Italians accept Anglo-American civilization as their own and should make them eager to follow in the footsteps of their fathers doing their share in fostering the growth of this great country, without having to discard any of their great Italian traditions.

For it is by following Italy on its rising path of greatness that England rose so far above other Nordic countries during the Renaissance. The direct Italian influence, so magnificently fruitful, was followed by more sterile periods during which England still followed the Italian leadership through France and Spain, two completely italianized countries, but only to return later to the unadulterated source, soaring again triumphantly with Byron, Shelley and Browning.

The most crying needs of the Italians in Chicago are cultural; opportunities for first class education of boys and girls of limited means. They are however making marvelous strides and the result of their efforts will as time goes by, be always more refulgent.

Here is to you, Italian Emigrant, my brother, you have made good.

The Italian Contribution

1929-30

THE progress of the Italians in Chicago is steady and though the past year has been a difficult one, they have not lost ground. The number of firms has increased as well as the variety of occupations. The main increase is still in groceries and restaurants, i. e., in food products.

It is to be hoped that of the variety of lines followed will continue to increase, bringing about a wider use and sale of other products, particularly in household needs, which means a heightened standard of living. Electrical appliances, dry goods, hardware, and so forth.

But the greatest need is for the success of the Italians to be better understood, not only by Americans, but by many of this group itself.

The Selected Directory of the Italians in Chicago was first published in order to disprove erroneous statements, as quoted in the introduction to the edition 1926-27. A greater need arises now, that one group among the Italians, namely the Sicilians, are being continually attacked, without regard to facts. For instance, in the Ranieri case, the Sicilians were at once named as the perpetrators, while, in fact, not a single Sicilian was implicated. This is habitual in the press.

I quote from the "Chicago Daily Tribune," an editorial, Nov. 22, 1928.

We ought not to permit political expediences or the force of organized alien minorities to prevent us from excluding immigration from countries whose history, whose social and political characteristics, and whose physical conditions are greatly unlike our own. We think neither Sicily nor the Balkan countries nor Mexico provide material which conduces to the harmonious development of American society and American institutions. They come with no comprehension of our preparation for citizenship, simply to a land of material opportunity, of whose freedom they are not prepared to make good use. To assimilate them into American life is difficult if not impossible and it is a problem there is no good reason we should impose upon us.

My answer to this is that the Sicilians in Chicago are moral, industrious, intelligent and most progressive in educating their children.

The history and the social and political characteristics of Sicily are those upon which Anglo-American civilization is founded, and the Sicilians have kept themselves an untainted race, free from social disease, illegitimacy and alcoholism.

Crime is having an easy time—but the Crime Commission is hardly blaming this on the Sicilians, who make excellent citizens.

I suggest a joint commission to ascertain facts, not because the Sicilians are asking to be defended, far from it, but as a matter of justice where justice is due.

I am not a Sicilian, feel absolutely loyal to the interests of the United States, and am basing my statements on the results of a four years' investigation. No Sicilian has been consulted about this declaration.

Prefazione

FRATELLI ITALIANI!

Vengo umile ed esaltata, gloriosa e commossa di esser dal destino oggi chiamata ad esortarvi a nome della cara patria a tener alto il vanto di pura italianità, seguendo imperterriti ed indefessi nell'orme sante degli illustri italiani, che crescendo gloria all'Italia si resero benefattori dell'umanità.

Come la chiesa chiede l'universalità di tutti i fedeli, così l'italianità chiede l'universalità di tutti gli italiani.

La nostra italianità, o fratelli italiani, è il Gran Fascio che racchiude in se tutte le glorie italiane, tutte le forze italiane del passato e del presente. Da Giulio Cesare, superbo romano, al soldatino ignoto caduto sulle sponde del Piave, dal ministro potente che decide delle sorti d'Italia, all'operaio, santo, quando con semplice onestà, giorno per giorno, dà alla civiltà moderna l'opera sua.

Siamo una immensa falange, gli italiani di oggi che lavorano per gli italiani dell'avvenire, resi più forti dall'opera dei nostri morti che ci spingono e ci spalleggiano, tutti e sempre Figli d'Italia.

Fratelli italiani, ospiti di questa magnifica repubblica, rendetevi ben conto di quanto la nostra Italia ha contribuito alla sua grandezza, non per stupido vanto, ma per misurare più scrupolosamente il dovere che vi incombe di completare con esaltata coscienza ed intelligente lealtà l'opera dei cari padri.

E quanto ci deve essere facile e dolce questo dovere verso l'America, grande bella figlia spirituale della nostra Italia.

Cristoforo Colombo, italiano e genovese, scoprì l'America. Nome profetico, il Colombo Cristoforo, il santo messaggero che portava a queste sponde il Cristo, il Cristo che per tutti dovrebbe esser il simbolo di uguaglianza, di fratellanza e di carità.

Spetta a voi, fratelli italiani, di militare arditamente affinchè non sia vana quella promessa fatta a queste terre e a nome di Cristoforo Colombo vi esorto: "Siate giusti e siate buoni."

Fu Giovanni Cabotto, ardito esploratore, che fe' sì che la prima bandiera a sventolare all'aure dell'America settentrionale fosse una bandiera italiana, quando piantò la bandiera inglese a fianco dello standardo della repubblica di Venezia, assicurando alla gente inglese il possesso di queste terre, e fu un altro italiano, Verrazzano, che primo approdò coi suoi francesi nel luogo dove adesso si trova Nuova York, che racchiude un magnifico centro italiano.

Cabotto fece da battistrada ai padri pellegrini, fondatori di questa repubblica, preparando loro un rifugio quando, fuggendo l'Inghilterra, vennero in cerca di lavoro e di libertà.

O fratelli italiani, vi esorto a continuare l'opera magnificamente benefica di Giovanni Cabotto e di far benedire l'Italia dai discendenti dei padri pellegrini, come certo sempre e dovunque la benedivano loro.

Da Amerigo Vespucci venne a questo paese il suo splendido nome "il regno dei potenti" e padrino di questa magnifica repubblica, si la fè figlia spirituale dell'Italia, consacrandone di nuovo la profonda italianità di coltura e di lingua.

A nome di Amerigo Vespucci vi esorto a conservare pura la vostra coltura e la vostra lingua, fonti di grazia per la gente americana.

Se ciò fate non sarete che meglio preparati ad accettare intelligentemente ed amorevolmente la lingua e la coltura di questo paese, ambedue meravigliosi innesti italici nel tronco britannico.

Non è per più di due terzi italiana questa lingua? Dico italiana perchè fu frutto di tutti i dialetti della penisola, non solo dell'aristocratico dialetto del Lazio.

Meravigliosa bellezza della nostra lingua che non mai si distrugge! Gran miracolo della provvidenza che da una serie di sbagli di pronunzia e di sgrammaticature fa nascer nuovi dialetti italici forti e rigogliosi, lo spagnuolo, il francese, l'inglese!

Primo dovere di ogni Italiano agli Stati Uniti è di conoscere, di amare e di conservare nella sua purezza e nella sua semplice beltà la lingua inglese, ultima fioritura della lingua italiana, rispettandone le nordiche caratteristiche che non son tutte estranee alla lingua madre.

Troppo ci vorrebbe per enumerare i tesori italiani base della coltura americana.

La grande letteratura italiana fu accettata senza il tramite della Francia ed i quattro maggiori poeti inglesi, Chaucer, Shakespeare, Spencer e Milton, furono dei meravigliosi innesti italiani nel tronco britannico. Se amate i poeti italiani, amerete questi grandi poeti inglesi che da cosa bella hanno creato cosa bella. Sono magnifici e sono italiani.

Che gioia per voi, fratelli, di riconoscer l'impronta italiana in tutto quanto vi offre di più bello questo paese.

E magnifica questa coltura, degna di studio, degna di lode, degna di amore, è italiana.

Levate dalla civiltà americana, dalla sua lingua, dalla sua letteratura, dalla sua arte, dalla sua scienza tutti gli elementi italiani e non rimane una civiltà! Perciò amatela questa civiltà come cosa vostra, difendetela, rendetela più grande e più forte. Non farete che tener alte le grandi tradizioni del passato.

Cosa dovete a questo paese, fratelli, ospiti di questa repubblica?

Fedeltà agli ideali italiani, lealtà agli ideali americani. Non troverete conflitto.

Chi in questo paese vi offende e vi tradisce manca agli ideali della sua gente e li tradisce, come l'italiano che con abbiezzo egoismo svergogna la sua italianità, tradisce tragicamente la nostra Italia.

Quando forti ed arditi, buoni ed intelligenti avrete raggiunto la mèta di essere i primi ed i migliori cittadini degli Stati Uniti, tenendo sempre alto il vanto di pura italianità, fonte di ogni bene, sentirete nel profondo dell'animo la fratellanza dei popoli e, servendola con abnegazione e con lealtà, riconoscerete in questa bella America la figlia spirituale dell'Italia, e l'amerete.

Disciplinati e leali, consci dei vostri duplici doveri, sarete benedetti dal paese che vi ospita e sarete degni figli della nostra Italia.

Pensate al vostro sangue, alla vostra razza. Vogliamo i nostri figli sani e forti di corpo e di mente. Vogliamo per loro una istruzione di vantaggi morali e materiali ed una ricreazione che li mantenga onesti e felici. Questo chiedete e questo otterrete.

L'Italia ha bisogno di tutto il prestigio morale e materiale che le possono dare i suoi figli lontani. Fate il bene di tutta la colonia e servirete l'Italia con giudizio e con abnegazione.

Siate fieri dell'opera vostra. Siate fieri della vostra italianità, e rendetela così santamente bella e forte da fare sì che con Erasmo tutti esclamino:

"Chi è colto, sia pur nato tra i selvaggi, è Italiano!"

*E tutto potete, fratelli italiani!
Siete la razza bella!
Siete la razza buona!
Siete la razza forte!
Siete la razza benedetta!
Siete la razza eletta!
Tutto potete!*
